Washington State Tax Registration Information

IMPORTANT! Please keep on file.

Congratulations on registering to participate in the Streamlined Sales and Use tax (SST) agreement! You are now registered to collect and remit sales tax on Washington State sales. Your Unified Business Identifier (UBI) number shown above is also your Department of Revenue (DOR) tax registration number. Please refer to this number or your SST number any time you contact us for assistance.

You have chosen to use a certified service provider (CSP), technology model 1, effective February 11, 2010. You have selected Exactor as your CSP. On your behalf, your CSP will file your tax return and remit the Washington State sales tax collected.

Your reporting dates

Your CSP needs to report taxes monthly. Your tax return is due the 25th of the month following the taxable period. For example, your return for tax liability during January is due on February 25.

Based on your effective date, the first return your CSP must file on your behalf is the February 2010 return due on March 25, 2010.

What does Nexus mean?

Companies doing business in this state are subject to Washington tax laws when nexus is established and must file a Master Business Application. A few examples of nexus-creating activities include, but are not limited to:

- Soliciting sales in this state through employees or other representatives
- Maintaining a stock of goods in this state
- Installing or assembling goods in this state, either by employees or other representatives.

If your business activity has established nexus, you must file a Master Business Application if you have not already done so. File a Master Business Application online at <http://dol.wa.gov>.
